Miner Dies in

Frank Hospital

A miner named Ignace Kalkz was struck in the head with a bottle by a fellow miner on April 27th, from the effects of which he died at the Frank hospital on Tuesday. An inquest was held yesterday by Coroner Pinkney. The party to the rash act was taken before the justice of the peace at first and convicted on the charge of assault. Since the victim's death, he has been again taken into custody, and a charge of either manslaughter or murder may be preferred against him.

The remains of Ignace Kalkz were interred on Thursday afternoon. Kalkz was about 50 years of age.

As a result of the inquest the following verdict was returned: "That deceased, Ignace Kalkz, died on May 12th, 1913, in Frank hospital, of blood poisoning, which developed from a wound on the face inflicted by a glass in the hand of Wasi Modri during a drunken brawl in a shack at Police Flats, Passburg, Alberta, on the afternoon of April 27th, 1913."

A Lavish Production

Don't Miss It

One of the most lavish productions ever sent on tour is that of "The Prince of Tintagel." The Adams, Hough and Howard, musical with Tom Arnold, in its title role, coming to the Blairmore open house, Wednesday night, May 22nd. It consists of four gorgeous scenes in three acts. The first scene is at the famous hotel "The Breakers," at Tintagel, the last is a wonderful transfigured land of Lullaland, where Mr. Arnold, as the Prince reigns for one night. The second act is the grandest house boat during the water festival and the last an al fresco banquet on the lawn at the hotel "Breakers." In the last scene there are banks of flowers and lights that form a brilliant spectacle. The electrical effects alone in the last scene are away beyond anything ever attempted on a road tour.

Don't Forget the ### Sale of Work

In connection with the sale of work to be held in the Presbyterian church, Blairmore, on Tuesday afternoon and night next, the ladies have added a special feature in the form of house and bedding plants—a new and entirely new idea in the role of such affairs. These have been secured at considerable expense and no doubt will be found marketable at the present time. Refreshments will be served from 2:30 to the closing hour.

The Blairmore Trading Company, Budd's brick block, are putting on a big cash sale, commencing Saturday of this week. See their ad and bills.

See Brisco's ad elsewhere in this paper.

A man named Janigo was killed in Bellevue mine last night. Particulars will be given next week.

Mr. Cardwell has succeeded J. Forshaw as tourorial artist at the Pastime pool room.

Happenings in and Around Hillcrest

We write with anxiety the news as to just who is going to get that pillar. Hillcrest is again in the line-light. The shake-up last Saturday placed Hillcrest at the head of the League, and all we can wish for now is to retain that honorable position. On Saturday, the 17th inst., we are ready to add another couple of points to our present total, much as we shall like to put Bellevue down. And we might here state that from now on we have no intention of giving anyone a rest—from what we know not—but just as long as Hillcrest plays the game and upholds the honorable traditions of the football field we are always ready to give her as big a boost as possible. Besides, perhaps, but it's the old truth.

So far as the remarks made by the innocent (under of Canada) are concerned they explain a difficulty that has been troubling us ever since the result of the Hillcrest-Hillcrest match was announced. The Hillcrest boys, on account of the non-arrival of their playing suits from the Old Country, were reduced to borrowing from the administrators of the United Burnside Football Club. Apparently in borrowing their clothes they inadvertently took along with them the intentions (in Burnside) hence Hillcrest is at a point in their suit hunt for a wonder we did not protest the game. At the different results obtained by the boys playing in their own honest strip. We had intended thanking the president of the Hillcrest for his courtesy in allowing us to borrow their clothes, but an apology is in order just now and we are waiting this in those columns before saying anything further. The Burnside club about the clothes taking the game as usual as was our own little 25,000 thing some eight or nine weeks ago.

Next to the Burnside correspondent of this paper please give in the editor of the Coleman Bulletin for pure manufactured mail. We have noticed from time to time the playful habit of maliciously copying our editorial articles word for word and printing them in what is known as the Bulletin; he never by any chance, however, remembers to put in my acknowledgment regarding the paper he copied them from. It is probably an oversight on his part. Let such as we want to see Hillcrest get all the leading and publicity that is coming our way we are at times rather particular as to what medium shall be used. As paper printing such malicious articles as those that have recently appeared in that decedent newspaper bars that paper from the pleasure of giving our war by little harm to life. We would suggest that the order subscribe enough to send the staff of the paper in question a little hand back on etiquette and decency. Let if we have used up the Gazette correctly the donation would most probably be a good hand "hill" delivered personally.

Engineers Hold Smoker

The smoker given by the Stationary Engineer's Association on Wednesday night of this week, in their rooms at the Frank hotel, was well attended and proved most interesting. A large number were present from all points between Burnside and Coleman. The next meeting of the Association will be held on Wednesday next at 8 p.m. All interested are cordially invited.

Inter-School Baseball League

The boys of the schools of Coleman, Frank and Blairmore have formed an inter-school baseball league. Between teams from each of these schools games will be played every Saturday. As there are only three teams, the home team will play two games each week. This week team will play two games every third Saturday, one in the morning and another in the afternoon. The following is the schedule:

Saturday May 17th—Morning, Blairmore vs. Frank; afternoon, Blairmore vs. Coleman.

May 21st—Morning, Coleman vs. Frank; afternoon, Coleman vs. Blairmore.

May 31st—Morning, Frank vs. Blairmore; afternoon, Frank vs. Coleman.

The above schedule will be repeated with change of dates until the end of the playing season.

Arrangements have been made to provide a banquet for the winning team.

We would appeal to parents to encourage the boys in their sport. They need hats, bats, gloves, etc. In this regard they are working under difficulties. Who will help them? In hockey last winter, the boys of Blairmore conducted themselves very creditably without much encouragement. Let us see that they do not lack a little boosting in their baseball games.

FIXTURES.

PHENOMONS come, and holdouts go. And stars their contracts sever. But "Peanuts, popcorn, candy, chewing gum, ice cold drinks, eat the player without a program, and-voice, who want a clear?" seem to go on forever.

Exact Location.

It doesn't always pay a lawyer to be stern with the opposing witnesses when cross examining them. They are often as clever as the attorney, and the following anecdote illustrates how our witness "put one over" on a bright young lawyer:

"Sir," said the lawyer sternly, "you need not state your impressions. You want facts. Now, benevolence answer me categorically. You say you live next door to the defendant?"

"Yes."

"To the north of him?"

"No."

"To the south?"

"No."

"To the west, then?"

"No."

"Ah," said the lawyer sarcastically, "at last we are likely to get down to one real fact. You live to the east of him, do you?"

"No."

"How is that, sir?" said the astonished attorney. "You say you live next door to him, yet you live neither to the east, west, north nor south. What do you mean by that, sir?"

"I thought perhaps you were incompetent to form the impression that we live in a flat," said the witness. "But I see I must inform you that his last next door above me."—Fun.

Marked.

A wealthy New York banker while in London went into a shop to purchase a set of dentures.

Not having the necessary amount of money on his person at the time, he gave his address and returned to instruct the clerk to mark them C. O. D. The clerk made none of the request, but the purchaser was surprised to find the goods left at his hotel and the bill demanded for payment. In a short while, however, he unpacked the parcel, and it developed that each denture had been beautifully engraved in twining letters "C. O. D."—Lippincott's.

CRASH! CRASH! ALMOST UNBEARABLE

Looked Like Raw Meat. Nched and Burned So Badly Could Not Rest Night or Day. Arms Sore from Wrist to Elbow. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Completely Cured.

Lower Manhattan, Nova Scotia.—"Three years ago I became troubled with sore arms. It came as a rash. My arms looked like raw meat and itched and burned so badly I could not rest night or day. When I scratched they became awfully sore. As long as the weather was warm it didn't bother me so much, but in winter it was almost unbearable. My arms were sore from the wrist to the elbow."

"I used several cures which were recommended to me but without any avail. I saw how I could get a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment which I did. I used the samples and found an improvement. Whenever I applied the Cuticura Ointment the itching and burning ceased. I got a full-sized box of Cuticura Soap and a cake of Cuticura Soap and Ointment which I used when it disappeared and since then I have not been troubled. That was six months ago. Cuticura Soap and Ointment completely cured me." (Signed) Miss Elsie E. Zwick, Mar. 7, 1914.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment do so much for pimples, blackheads, red, rough skin, itching, scaly eczema, dandruff, itching, falling hair, chapped hands and chapped nails with painful finger-ends, that it is almost criminal not to use them. A single cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment are often sufficient when all else has failed. Hold a everywhere. A single sample of each mailed free, with 25¢ Skin Book. ## HIS CHANCE.

The Tariff Talking Parrot Had Blank Where He Wanted Him.

A participation in the tariff has been witnessed some amusing facts in connection with marriage ceremonies, but that of these which are most amusing is the one which occurred at a wedding of his own making. When the ceremony had been completed, the minister congratulated the bride and groom, and the bride turned to the minister and said:

"We have all known these young people. We have seen them grow up from children, and now that they have entered the holy state of matrimony perhaps some of their old friends and neighbors may have some special word to say to them."

For a moment there was no response to this suggestion. Then from his position emerged the father of the bride, who delivered himself as follows:

"I ain't certain that I can add anything important to what has been said. But, after a solemn and comfortable glance about him which betrayed his embarrassment, his eye fortunately fell upon a neighbor, a political opponent, who would never have been to the old man's view on certain matters relating to tariff reform. The father's face brightened, and in an inspired way he cried:

"But this seems a good chance and one which ought not to be neglected, now that blank is here, and I shall like to say a few words on the subject of tariff reform."—Harper's Bazar.

Suspected.

It was while the new recruits and a soldier was being tried for the shooting of a chicken on prohibited ground.

"Look here, my man," said the commanding officer, "are you quite certain this is the man who shot your bird? Will you swear to him?"

"No," replied the soldier, "I am not sure, but I will swear the man I suspect of doing it."

"That's not enough to convict a man," retorted the C. O., considering the matter. "What raised your suspicions?"

"Well, sir, replied the sturdy farmer, as he slowly moved his forehead with his hand, "it was this way. I see 'em on my property with a gun; then I heard the gun go off; then I see 'em putting the chicken into his knapsack, and it didn't seem sense, now, to think the bird committed suicide."—Answers.

A Safe Bet.

A Durham farmer was traveling to London to consult a lawyer when the fear struck him that he had left certain important papers behind. He made a hurried search of his bag.

"If I did leave those papers," he remarked, "I'm a fool!"

The search proceeded, and a moment later he said:

"I believe I'll turn out I'm a fool!"

Just as he was examining the last bundle of papers he exclaimed:

"Well, I'll let him be a fool!"

A man on the other side of the compartment lowered his newspaper for a moment and said slowly and deliberately:

"Obliged me, sir, by laying a little money the same way for me."—Tit-Bits.

A number of autograph letters by George Meredith were sold for $2,250 at a recent London book sale, and an autographed copy by Burns, consisting of three stanzas of four lines each, was sold for $1,000.

The autograph score of Wagner's "Ride, Britannia" overture, written in 1840 for the London Philharmonic Society, has been sold for $1,475. It was lost for many years, and found at Leicester eight years ago.

TATTOO GIVES BANDIT AWAY

Shooting Paper Pellets for Sport Discloses Identity to Detective.

Paris, France.—The Paris police have captured the notorious bandit named Lacombe, who since December 1st, has been sought for in every part of France.

His arrest was due to the chance presence in the Bois de Vincennes of two young inspectors who were loitering in the district fair. As they passed a show outside which two men were boxing, their attention was attracted by an onlooker who was shooting paper pellets at a target. As his hand shot forward one of the detectives noticed the figure of the thumb and the index finger and a heart tattooed.

Suddenly he recollected that the description of Lacombe mentioned a heart tattooed on the right hand, and drew his comrade's attention. Both had a good look at the man and a hurried conference one of the inspectors fetched Police Commissioner Dupuis. When they were joined he pulled them behind him. The prisoner made a quick movement to reach the door, but was too late. In his possession were two loaded revolvers, two bombs containing the explosive known as "chance" and two fuses.

The crimes with which Lacombe is charged include the murder of a factory foreman at Decauville two years ago, the killing of a ticket collector named Thury at Les Aubrais station, near Orleans last September, the shooting of M. Carlier, postmaster at Bezaun, in November, and the murder of Ducret in his lodgings at the office of the Anarchist Journal "Libre Libre" in the Faubourg de Cligny last December. When interrogated by the examining magistrate the bandit denied participation in the Decauville crime, but confessed to committing the three murders at Les Aubrais, Bezaun and the Faubourg de Cligny.

Lacombe suspected Ducret, a fellow anarchist, of having tried to betray him, and he shot him dead at midnight. Lacombe confessed the man and his wife with two revolvers and kept them for six hours in a state of terror. As daylight was breaking he discharged both weapons fatally wounding Ducret, but missing the woman. Then he took to flight and eluded the police for three months.

Attacked by Asthma. The first fearful sensation is of suffocation, which hour by hour becomes more desperate and hopeless. The relief afforded by Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy seems nothing but a miracle. It is so quick and powerful that the attack is mastered. The asthmatic who has found out the value of this sterling remedy will never be without it. It is sold everywhere.

Their Complexions Were Creamy. Munich.—Joseph Kleinert, a farmer at Pfaffenhofen, Bergring, who has been sending watered milk to Munich, discovered that the cause had been first filled up with milk water by the three young daughters, who were in the habit of skimming the best milk and creaming it. He was so much shocked by their conduct that he was obliged to wash to beautify their complexions.

Five Miles up. Paris.—M. Perreyon, the almanac, ascended to a height of more than five miles last week. This constitutes a world's record.

Dog's Remarkable Journey. London.—Some time ago the Rev. W. Y. Fullerton removed from Leicester to London. He brought with him a dog, which was sent back to Leicester and then to Birmingham. After a while it arrived there and disappeared, and it was subsequently found by the police in the metropolis.

The dog's condition was such that it is believed it found its way from Birmingham to London by road, a distance of 100 miles.

A Sad Day. What do you consider the saddest day of your life?

The day I consented to let my wife do her own cooking.

Tripp's First Play. Calao.—For the first time during the existence of nearly 600 years, the town of Tripp has witnessed the theatrical performance, the piece given being Leib's opera, "Eva." The arrangement was strongly represented among the audience.

Remarks About Nourishing Food. "A physician's wife gave me a package of Grape-Nuts one day, with the remark that she was sure I would find it very beneficial, both for my own use and for my patients. I was particularly attracted to the box, as it was so small and so light, and I appreciated the fact that Grape-Nuts required no cooking."

"I am a very weak and delicate man, and most inviting to the appetite. After making use of it twice a day for three or four weeks, I discovered that it was a most wonderful invigorator. I used to suffer great exhaustion, headaches and depression of spirits. My work had been very trying at times and indigestion set in."

I used to suffer great exhaustion, headaches and depression of spirits. My work had been very trying at times and indigestion set in."

"The fact that it is predigested is a very desirable feature. I have had remarkable results from feeding Grape-Nuts to my patients, and I cannot speak too highly of the food. My patients constantly commend me for the change in my appearance. I have gained 25 pounds since beginning the use of this food."

Blessed Relief Comes Quick, You Get Comfort, Every Pain Disappears

I have yet to see the cold this won't break up quickly."

A Fine Free Show. The little man had taken his wife and children to the travelling show. After viewing all the sights and shows he was about to leave the entire family lined up in front of a large booth, which advertised in huge letters "The Wonder of the World."

On a small ledge in front of this booth paced the showman himself, entrancing all and sundry to come up and view. Presently his attention was attracted by the little man who stood earnestly and respectfully at the entrance. "Ere, you," he called. "Ain't yer coming in?"

"Yes, I only stopped to look at the little man," said the showman. "He's a fine fellow, ain't he?"

"He is," replied the little man. "I would not be eleven shillings if I did. I've seen there's me an' my wife and twenty children."

The showman, exclaiming the showman, horse with incredulity, and pointing to the long line of earnest faces. Are all of them yours?"

A nod was the little man's sole answer. "Good heavens!" cried the man of the booth, as he bounded to its entrance. "You're a fine fellow, guv'nor. Stay where you are, I'm coming to give the Great Elk a treat. I'm going to bring 'im out to 'ave a look at you."

A Dry Job

An Irishman sought employment as a driver. The firm wanted to need a new man. And so on the following Monday morning, Pat had his suit for the first time in a diving helmet.

Now the job upon which the crew, which Pat had attached himself to, was working in comparatively shallow water, and Pat was provided with a pick and shovel to use it on a ledge below in a manner with which he was already familiar.

Drove him with his pick, and for about fifteen minutes nothing was heard from him. Then came a strong thumping on the ledge which indicated that Pat had a very decided wish to come to the top. The assistant pulled him hastily to the surface, and removed his helmet.

"Take off the rest of it," said Pat.

"Take off the rest of it?"

"Yes, said Pat. 'O'll worrk no longer on a job where Ol' cat's spit on me hands."

A Safe Pill for Suffering Women.—The second sex of women, which permits of little healthful exercise, is a fruitful cause of derangements of the system. It is a safe pill for the relief of the pains and lassitude that so many of them experience. Pains, irregularities of the digestive organs and restore health and vigor. The medicinal pills can be used with safety, because their action, while effective, is mild and soothing.

They Wanted to Hear It. Now, children, said the teacher to her kindergarten class. I want you all to be very quiet, so that you can hear what I have to say. In fact, that you can hear a word.

Everything had quieted down, and the teacher was about to speak when a little voice in the rear of the school room squealed forth: "Go ahead, please, teacher, and let 'em drop."

HE SENT HIS "BEST" REMEDY. The young daughter of Mrs. T. S. Douglas, of Nova Avenue, Winnipeg, was arranging some of her dolls' washing on a clothes rack, beside the stove, when her mother and her came in contact with the hot stove. She sustained a serious burn, and her screams brought her mother quickly to the spot.

"I sent to the druggist for the best remedy he had for burns," she says, "and he sent back a box of Zam-Buk. He said that there was nothing so good as it applied to the burn, and it soothed the pain so quickly that the child laughed through her tears. I bound the burn in Zam-Buk and each day applied Zam-Buk frequently and liberally, until the burn was quite cured."

Zam-Buk Soap should also be used by all mothers for baby's bath and for skin troubles, rashes, pimples, etc. All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk at fifty cents box; and Soap at 25¢. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, 50¢ box. Toronto, for price. Refuse harmful imitations.

PELTED WITH ROTTEN APPLES. Rome Audience Resorts; in Theatre. Gross Insult to Their City. Rome.—A riot took place recently in the Costanza Theatre, Rome, recently during a performance by the Futurists. For the past fortnight the "art" clique have made the theatre headquarters for their hostile reception of the Futurists and their staff of poets, painters, sculptors and composers have distributed thousands of pamphlets highly offensive to Rome, which was compared with the lowest type of woman.

This has highly incensed the citizens, and an angry crowd assembled in the theatre, where a Futurist demonstration had been given. When Maestro Pratella appeared to conduct a Futurist overture, the orchestra was bombarded with rotten apples, potatoes and oranges and several of the instruments were smashed. Endorsed by the hostile reception, Marinetti himself appeared on the stage to recite a Futurist poem, but he was not allowed to do so.

The excitement rose to such a pitch that soon hand-to-hand fighting broke out between Futurists and demonstrators in all parts of the theatre. Several members of Rome's aristocracy were involved in the riot, and the theatre was cleared and the fighting was continued in the streets. Futurist leaders were taken to the police station with their clothing torn and faces bruised, sought refuge in a cafe.

Minard's Liniment Relieves Neuralgia. But are you sure? persisted the grouchy customer, that this is the stuff for your neuralgia? They will cost you $5 each.

Oh, yes, replied the druggist; all the doctors refer to recommend it.

Where Justice is Not Meted Out

Different parties have come to us from time to time commenting upon the manner in which justice is usually meted out to our neighbors of the foreign element as compared with the general toleration of lawlessness with our English-speaking people.

It is a well-known fact that police are never so irate in their efforts to preserve peace amongst the English speaking classes, who are known to shelter crime in its many milder forms; while if a member of the foreign element is ever suspected he is immediately made to defend himself as an illiterate before our courts.

We have been informed of certain forms of gambling being carried on in our midst for several months past. Whether the police or the authorities are aware of such we know not, but it is a mystery. How such gambling can be practised almost within their full view without their knowledge.

We believe that the law should be no respecter of persons, and that, to say the least, justice should be administered more strongly to those most versed in our dialect and the laws of the land.

Alberta College Convocation

The third annual convocation of Alberta College was held on Tuesday evening in the College Assembly Hall. The dean's report was read by Prof. A. D. Miller, M. A., B. D. It indicated an enrollment of 80 theological students, five of whom are graduates in arts, while sixteen are pursuing their arts course in Alberta University.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of the evening was the presentation of scholarships and diplomas. F. S. McCall, B. A., was the recipient of the Miriam Kent gold medal for general proficiency. The George Hanna silver medal was awarded to Joseph Lee.

Scholarships were awarded as follows:
1st Wesley Old Boys Scholarship, E. F. Kemp.
2nd Wesley Old Boys Scholarship, W. Davidson.

1st Victoria Old Boys Scholarship, T. Taylor.
Victoria Old Boys Bursary, F. Foster.

Leonard Gaetz Scholarship for homiletics and elocution, W. Forslaw.

L. Gaetz Scholarship for N. T. Ex., K. Kingston.

Metropolitan Methodist Church Scholarship, H. Bosomworth.

Alberta College Old Boys prize, W. Zerry.
Diplomas were granted to the ten students graduating in theology. F. S. McCall, B. A., S. D. Misener, B. A., Cyril Eason, S. Webster, S. S. Peat, J. M. Fawcett, I. N. Hughson, D. B. Leard, T. C. Colwell, B. A., Joseph Lee.

Interesting addresses were delivered by Professor Kerr, representing the University, and Professor King, representing Robertson College. The latter referred to the fact that during the coming winter the students of Robertson and Alberta colleges would take lectures together.
Mr. S. S. Peat, retiring president of the students' body, handed over the stick and seal of office to his successor, Mr. F. T. Cook.

Rev. H. T. Lewis, B. A., of Calgary, gave an inspirational address containing much valuable advice to the graduates. Principal Riddell spoke in an impressive and telling way to the ten men who had for some years been associated with the college and who were turning their backs on college halls to take up their work. "Men, keep strong, be men, never let a man sneer at your profession because of you. Act so that they will honor the ministry because you are in it. Do not let the profession make you make it. Make it good."

There is no doubt that during many a trying period the closing remarks of their beloved principal will cheer them for life's difficult tasks.

"Prince of Tonight"

Something novel is in store for the theatregoer when the Adams, Hough and Howard, musical fantasy "The Prince of Tonight," with Tom Arnold, in the title role will be presented at the Blairmore opera house on the night of Wednesday, May 22nd. Mr. Arnold's role is of a college youth, poor but resourceful, who is spurned by a beautiful heiress whom he dares love, and who eventually wins her after being transformed by the magic influence of a blooming country plant, into a prince of the mythical land of Lumbardia. It is a pretty story, well told and gives the authors an opportunity to introduce a number of pretty songs, snappy and witty lines, pretty girls, an excellent male chorus, a wealth of beautiful scenery, electrical effects, attractive costumes and everything that goes to make up the best of musical extravaganzas.

The Cadet System

In Schools

There are Canadians who object to the introduction of cadet drill into the schools because they think it develops a spirit of militarism. Experience has proved that this view is incorrect. Boys thoroughly enjoy cadet work without any direct consciousness of its relationship to war. The boy thinks only of the immediate effort, the immediate discipline, and the immediate enjoyment, and not of any ultimate and distant possibility. This well known psychological principle has a most important bearing on the whole question of the desirability of introducing cadet work into the schools.

It should be remembered in this connection that soldiers do not cause war. Grave dissensions between nations result from differences between the political and financial leaders of different countries, not from anything the soldiers of the rival countries say or do. The soldier is not the war monger. He is more likely to become the war victim.

There are men who attack those who advocate cadet work in the schools, and who charge them with approving of "conscription." This charge has absolutely no foundation. The cadet system is a rational substitute for conscription. It avoids all the evils of conscription, and it develops the best elements of human power and character, while at the same time it secures all the expected advantages of conscription in the most natural and the most thoroughly effective way. Those who attack the principle of universal training are evidently not aware of the fact that the law of Canada now recognizes the principle that all men, with comparatively few exceptions, are responsible for the defence of their country. Between the ages of eighteen and forty-five, inclusive, men are now, by law, liable to be called upon when necessary to do military service in the defence of their country. There is no logical basis for good citizenship but the one that recognizes a man's duties to his country.

There is no proper system of training in citizenship that does not make all children—girls as well as boys—conscious of their responsibilities as individual units in their country. Boys should understand that they will become responsible for the defence of their homes and their country when they reach the age of eighteen. They should be trained to use their influence to avoid war; but the fundamental principle is that they are liable by law to give their services to defend their country when necessary in return for the privileges they enjoy as citizens.

It is an indefensible moral ideal that a man should enjoy the many rights of citizenship without recognizing his responsibility for the duties of citizenship.

The advocates of a Cadet System do not wish any change in the law which makes every man between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years responsible for the defence of his country. They do, however, regard it as a grievous mistake to make all men within these age limits liable for military service, as the law now does, without providing in some way for their training in order that they may be able to render efficient service without the terrible sacrifice of life that would naturally result from the vain attempts of masses of untrained men to perform the duty required of them.

Universal liability for defence service is unquestionably right. This being true, it clearly follows that all men should, in some way, be prepared to perform the duty laid upon them by their country. The country that demands universal service without providing some adequate system of universal training for the men on whom it properly lays the duty is culpably negligent.

The question to be solved really is: What is the most effective and most economical system for giving universal training?

The Cadet System has the following merits from the national standpoint:—

1. It is given at a time when lessons learned by operative processes are never forgotten. Drill is an operative process. Operative processes are not recorded in the memories, but in the lives of students.

2. It costs the country less to train the coming citizens in the schools than in any other way.

3. It interferes with the ordinary duties of men less than any other possible plan to have the foundation of military drill given in the schools.

4. It qualifies the men of the country for more complete military training in much shorter time than it would take to train them without cadet training in the schools. Men in later years will find their training in military drill to be mainly reviewing the work they did in school instead of having to learn the whole work at maturity.

5. Boys like military drill. From twelve to sixteen years of age, they generally like it better than baseball or lacrosse, and because of this fact, it may be used so as to produce the most beneficial effects upon character.

6. A Cadet is not a soldier. He takes no oath of military service. He is a boy who, for his own good and the good of his country, is disciplined through wholesome exercises, some of which have a military origin, and some have not. Any possible objection to a Cadet Corps applies with equal force to a Boys' Brigade.

The following are the general advantages of Cadet training to the Cadets themselves:—

1. It provides an excellent setting-up drill for boys physically. Boys whose teachers, parents and physicians have tried earnestly to train to sit and stand properly without success, in most cases respond at once to drill and become new physical types. Drill exercises are good for the general physical development of a boy, but they produce better effects than additional strength and improved health. They give a more dignified bearing, a more graceful carriage of the body and a more definite step.

It is not possible to train a boy so that throughout his life he will stand erect and walk with more grace and dignity without, at the same time, influencing him morally for good. The physical, the intellectual and the moral natures react on each other. They should be trained in harmony, in order that each individual may reach his best development in the three departments of his nature.

Every parent in Canada who has had sons at the Royal Military College, and every man who has met boys before and after their course there, has recognized the extraordinary improvement in health, strength, stature and physique which has followed that course.

Every man, whatever his party politics, who has seen the military training in Germany or in Sweden or Switzerland, testifies to the improvement in health, strength, bearing and self-respect which has attended it.

2. It trains boys to be promptly, definitely, intelligently and cheerfully obedient. There can be no diversity of opinion in regard to a training that develops prompt, definite, intelligent and cheerful obedience to regularly constituted authority. There is no other school process that develops these types of obedience in a boy's character so naturally, so effectively and so permanently as drill.

3. It reveals law to a boy, not as a restraining force merely, but as a guiding force, by enabling him to achieve much more perfect results under law than he could possibly achieve without law. Without the laws that govern its movements, a Company or a Regiment would be an uncoordinated mass of individuals or a mob; under law, it is a perfect organization, capable of executing a very complicated series of movements accurately and unitedly, not as individuals but as an organic unity. One of the most essential elements of true moral training is reverence for law as a guiding force. To understand "the perfect law of liberty," and have a true consciousness of what is meant by "liberty under law," is one of the strongest foundations of character. This recognition of law gives a man a deeper and broader conception of his true attitude to his fellowmen and to his duty.

4. It develops a boy's genuine patriotism; not an arrogant or offensive consciousness of national importance, but a genuine faith in himself and his country. Such a faith is one of the basic elements of a strong and balanced moral character. In many parts of Canada, a great many foreign boys are making a new home. There is no other process by which they can be made proud of their King, their new country, their flag, and the institutions it represents so quickly and so thoroughly as by wearing the King's uniform, and keeping step to patriotic British-Canadian music behind the Union Jack as part of a patriotic organization, along with British-Canadian boys. In this way a patriotic spirit enters a boy's heart and life.

5. Drill does more than develop the spirit of patriotism. It reveals to a boy his value as a citizen, and therefore, his responsibility for the performance of his duties as a citizen not merely in defence of his country, but in the highest development of his country in all departments of national life.

6. Cadet drill helps to make a boy executive, and executive training is the training that gives real practical value to all other kinds of training. One of the greatest causes of failure in the school of the past was the lack of executive training.

7. All modern advances in education are based on a reverent recognition of the value of the individual soul, and of the supreme need of its development. Drill gives a boy an opportunity to learn the value of individual training and of individual effort by experience, better than any other school work except organized play, or organized work in Manual Training or some other form of employment. Each boy knows from the first that the standing of the Company depends on the work of each individual boy. He knows also that his failure brings discredit on his Company. This knowledge will, in due time, reveal to him the need of his life work to aid his community and his country to their highest development.

8. Drill defines in a boy's mind the need of active co-operation with his fellows—boys and men. It is very important that each man shall become conscious of the value of his own individuality. It is much more important that he learn his supreme value as a social unit, as one working with and for humanity. The true ideals of social unity and social relationship cannot be communicated vitally to children or to adults by words alone. They must be defined by action; by united effort under directive law for the achievement of a common purpose. There is no other form of co-operative activity that so clearly reveals to a boy the need of putting forth his best efforts in harmony with his comrades as drill.

9. Drill trains a boy to be careful of his language and manners, and to value neatness and cleanliness in his clothing and person, and thus develops a conscious personal dignity, which is an important element in character.

That our system of government is democratic quadruples the force of arguments in favor of military drill in schools; for the system tends to a disregard for authority, a due respect for which is restored by a reasonable system of universal military training. The training is therefore beneficial, even desirable, in itself intrinsically and subjectively, quite apart from any outbreak of war, or any need for putting it into practice literally, and it is not discredited or rendered useless though the last and worst occasion for it never arise.

W. F. Stanley's last request of the mid-fact that W. B. Powell would make Coleman the headquarters for the Mike Rescoe Car and also move his family to that burg. Blairmore is the headquarters for the car and for Mr. Powell. As the blow-up for no control a sliding in Blairmore, a sliding has been put in especially for the accommodation of the car.

C. M. O'Brien lectured at the opera house on Sunday afternoon. The gathering of sympathizers was smaller in number than the friends of W. F. Stanley in Coleman, consequently there was sufficient room for the reverberation of the eloquent fumes, and the clapping and applause from his hearers. Mr. O'Brien dealt at considerable length with the tactics used by the Conservatives in their election. "Two hundred legs of beer"—enough in fact, to cause a landslide, was the mode of argument, he contended, as used by the Tories, while he would like to challenge any one to prove anything but clean campaigning on the part of the Socialists. He did not quote the quantity of fire-water used by the Liberals, but we have it on good authority that Powell didn't get in the swim.

Hillcrest Vs. Hosmer

The football enthusiasts of Hillcrest had an enjoyable time on Saturday, the 10th inst., when Hillcrest played their first home game in the Crows' Nest Park League and incidentally outplayed their opponents to the tune of three goals to one. The weather was almost ideal, and owing to the showery weather that was experienced right up to late on the Friday evening the ground was in the best condition. The game commenced at 4.30 in order to allow the visitors to catch the evening train home. A large crowd was present at the kick-off which slowly grew in size during the progress of the game until there must have been between four and five hundred spectators when the whistle blew for time. Hosmer won the toss and elected to kick down hill with the wind and sun in their favor. Pettie set the ball going and the blue and white at once made a dash at the Hosmer goal. The ball remained in the Hosmer half for some minutes, but the visitors, by heavy kicking, soon changed the scene of operations to mid field. There the forwards kept the ball for some time, Hosmer getting the ball away after some pretty head work on their left wing. They ran down in the style until they encountered Marples, the Hillcrest right back, who had the ball among the home team's forward line.

The local baseball enthusiasts held a practice game on Monday night. There is lots of good material for a team here, but the sporting taste of the public is too depraved to relish such a noble sport.

The Eagles' lodge has fitted up a new hall over the Bellevue Drug Company's store. They held their first meeting on Saturday evening, and feel much more comfortable than in the old nest.

A large number of Bellevue people took in the Hillcrest-Hosmer game at Hillcrest on Saturday. We thought that both teams showed easy kicking for Bellevue until we got the news from Coleman.

"The Prince of Tonight," the gorgeous musical fantasy, coming to the Blairmore opera house on Wednesday, May 29th, as a great spectacular production outshines everything that has been attempted by a management in stage settings. The brilliant glories of the Delwood Forest in the Land of the Moon, and the glittering whirl of a blue and silver chorus is not only the cinema artistic effects in the show itself, but the best work in contemporaneous extravaganzas.

It is now well known that not more than one case of rheumatism can require any internal treatment whatever. All that's needed is a free application of Chamberlain's Liniment and massaging the parts affected.

The Bellevue football team played their second scheduled game of the season at Coleman on Saturday. The game was a fast one and but for an accident in the early part of the game by which Arnold Varley dislocated his knee cap and had to drop out, the result would have been different. A large squad of Bellevue players accompanied the boys and we were assured that if support and interest count for anything, that Bellevue has nothing to fear. We are glad to congratulate Coleman on her victory and hope that it will commend the team for support. A team that can beat Bellevue is worthy of all the sympathy and support of which the town of Coleman is capable.

The Hosmerites had time to figure out what had happened. The Hillcrest left wing ran the ball up to within dangerous distance of the Hosmer goal, and after a little passing in the centre, Pettie shot the first goal of the game amid resounding cheers from both spectators and players. Hosmer, kicking off again, tried rushing tactics, but the home team's defence stopped their approach and before very long the Hosmer goal was again threatened. The visitors' defence endeavored to clear but placed the ball right at the feet of Len Adlam, who sensed his opportunity immediately and beat the Hosmer goalkeepers with a hard side shot. After this second goal the supporters of the home team could hardly contain themselves with joy. They figured that with their team doing stunts like this when kicking up hill against sun and wind there would be very little chance of the visitors wresting the victory from them during the second half. Hosmer again put the ball in motion and lost it at once, the blue and white again eluding in on the visitors' goal. The Hosmer tactics, however, had by this time changed and the ball lay down again from their own forwards. This time the Hosmerites showed their excellent combination, and by dint of passing freely and accurately, were able to pass the Hillcrest backs. Taton moved over and cleared, but the blue and white halves again placed the ball where it was most needed, and after a little play in the goal mouth Hosmer returned to mid field with a goal to their credit. The home team's besters looked rather solemn, and a little later called for a substitute two, after which one or two were sporty enough to give the visitors a cheer. Hillcrest again got going with the ball after the excitement had cooled down a little and seemed to be playing for all they were worth, while Hosmer were doing their utmost to even the score. Hosmer and Hillcrest mixed it up in the style in a mid field for a few minutes, and then, in the words of the song "silence reigned supreme." One of the Hosmerites had taken a chance and had kicked from the centre straight up to heaven and the Hillcrest goal at one and the same time. All eyes were on Taton, but he did not seem to know it. All the eyes he had been busy trying to get a sight of the ball, a hard job, as he had kicked from the centre straight up to heaven and the Hillcrest goal at one and the same time.
